Notes:

ASSOCIATE IN DIGITAL DESIGN

(Fort Steilacoom Only)

Pierce College offers the Associate in Digital Design at the Ft. Steilacoom campus. Students learn to produce print and electronic graphic materials, rich media, and web sites using the most current computer digital design software. Students develop a strong command of layout and design techniques and experience working under deadline pressure.

High-level graphic and rich media artists who can create artistic designs and innovative interactive projects are in high demand. Expertise in digital design is important for entry into and advancement in publishing companies, in-house design departments, graphics, advertising, public relations, sales and other visual arts occupations. As the internet continues to become the primary channel of communication, persons skilled in designing for this medium can expect to be in increasing demand and earn good salaries.

The Associate in Digital Design is designed to prepare students for entry-level positions.
